Note from the Chair

The kimff team is excited to present a lineup of films that encompass diverse narratives about people, places, culture and mountain sport. Our films cover a wide range of genres from fiction to non-fiction, and styles from cinema verite, adventure cinema, experimental shorts, and light-hearted POV films.

In this edition of kimff, we hope audiences are inspired by individuals and adventurers who have lived life on their own terms in The Great White Whale, Queendom, Into the Heart of the Mountain, Atirkul in the Land of Real Men, From Above you Can See Better- Wanda Rutkiewicz, Climbing for Gold, and Yamnuska: The Ragged Edge. We are moved by the films Dhye Dreams, Against the Tide and No Monastery No Village where the protagonists struggle with the impacts of climate change on their homes and lives. The female protagonists in The Childless Village, Andro Dreams, and Silent Walls make us smile and want to cry at their predicaments.

The 30 films in Nepal Panorama spotlight local talent and stories about contemporary Nepal. The queer protagonists in Yatra and Arkesta inspire us, a passionate dog lover in Wagging Tale moves us while the plight of a returnee migrant worker in Phera, and, of an indigenous community in Bankariya, angers us. We empathise with the dilemma of a childless couple in Dubidha and with a mother and daughter's predicament in Chiso Ghar. We get a glimpse into a child's mind in Hawaman, and, we laugh out loud at the irreverent antics of the protagonists in Nepali Fiction.

Festival highlights include the Asia Premiere of The Tiger's Nest, an international production filmed in Nepal; Everest Revisited 1924-2024, a photo exhibition and film screening of pioneering attempts on Everest; a special screening of Korean films to celebrate 50 years of Nepal-Korea friendship; a panel on Women Behind the Camera; a Cut.Katha documentary film pitch; an edit lab for fiction and non-fiction filmmakers; Mountains Matter- A Call from the Himalayas, a Storytellers event, and, Make/Film/Learn - a Camera Sika installation and exhibition.

The festival team invites you to the screenings, displays and the critical and creative conversations with participating filmmakers and speakers, and, to meet the jury.

Co-hosted by the Kathmandu Metropolitan City, kimff 2024 includes diverse and compelling stories under the festival tagline 'Echoes of Change'. It also reflects the transition the festival is going through as we strive to stay relevant and engaged with the audience. We are positive that everyone will find a screening, a panel, and event that speaks to them.

Enjoy the films!

Kimff Edit Lab with Regina Bärtschi

26-28 May | Hotel Tibet, Lazimpat

The Kimff Edit Lab, led by Swiss film editor Regina Bärtschi, offers Nepali filmmakers a unique opportunity to sharpen their films' edges. Filmmakers and editors (fiction & non-fiction) will receive intensive hands-on editing guidance and a chance to refine their works-in-progress, gain valuable insights and network within the Kimff community. Designed with the aim to enable filmmakers to learn from each other's work the three-day Lab will devote time to watch and discuss in depth the participating projects and how best to approach the stories they are trying to tell. The Edit Lab is supported by the Embassy of Switzerland in Kathmandu.

Editing Master Class with Regina Bärtschi

28 May Tuesday | 3:00-5:00 pm | Gehendra Dhimal Foundation, Mandikatar

This special master class for filmmakers and film students will delve into the editing process as Swiss film editor Regina Bärtschi analyses a project, shares valuable insights and techniques to elevate storytelling in films. It will look at the basics of film editing while touching on topics such as techniques for seamless cuts that propel the story forward without a hitch as well as editing scenes with emotion where every edit can heighten the impact of what a character may be feeling. Participants will observe Baertschi deconstruct a project, giving insights into her approach and methodology.

Camera Sika Exhibition Showcase

29 May-2 June | Rastriya Sabha Griha (City Hall) Foyer

The Camera Sika programme, launched by the British Council and developed by Into Film, began as a pilot project in Nepal in November 2019. This exhibition highlights the innovative work of Camera Sika, dedicated to empowering young people by helping them discover and develop creative and technical skills through filmmaking. Visitors to this interactive installation can explore galleries, experience a mock studio setup and watch films created by young filmmakers on display screens. The exhibition also offers a range of resources and learning materials, providing an insight into the world of filmmaking. The exhibition will run for five days, from 11:00 am to 4:00 pm, with guided tours available upon request.

Curators: Prasna Dongol, Robic Upadhyaya

Production Supervisor: Suresh Maharjan

Mountains Waste to Crafts by Nepali Women

29 May-2 June | Rastriya Sabha Griha (City Hall) Foyer

For Mountaineers, the climbing rope is a symbol of safety, their lifeline. During expeditions, the lives of mountaineers literally hangs by a thread i.e. a Climbing rope.

Unfortunately, these very ropes are also one of the most common items left in the mountain after expeditions. On top of that, they are one of the most difficult items to recycle.

Under the Nepal Army Led – Mountain Cleanup Campaign 2021 & 22 – one of the largest Mountain Clean up campaigns in the world, these ropes were collected from eight mountains of Nepal, viz., Everest, Lhotse, Makalu, Dhaulagiri, Amadablam, Pumori, Manaslu & kanchanjunga.

The vision of the campaign's official recycling partner, Avni Ventures to not let any of the waste collected from the mountains to go to the landfills, gave birth to the idea of up-cycling them into beautiful, functional products. These ropes have undergone series of processing by women at Avni Ventures. In partnership with Nepal Knotcraft Centre, the craft-persons and weavers from the indigenous communities of Nepal have coiled the climbing ropes with natural plant fibers to transform them into beautiful products.

Everest Revisited 1924-2024 | Screening and Panel Discussion

29 May Wednesday | 3:00-5:00 pm | Nepal Tourism Board

Everest Revisited 1924-2024 is an Alpine Club production made in association with the Mount Everest Foundation. Using photos taken by the climbers on the expeditions and John Noel's films from the 1920s, the film tells the story of the 1924 expedition focusing on the partnership of George Mallory and Andrew Irvine as well as the contribution of many of the remarkable members including Sherpas and Bhotias. The film also examines what Everest means today to the Nepalis, and to the world. Everest is a place of changing value and impact, some good, some questionable. To reach the highest point on our planet is at once a measure of our ambition and achievement and, at the same time, of our frailties and vanity. Julie Summers, the great-niece of Sandy Irvine and mountaineer and narrator Matt Sharman seek insights in interviews with many well-known climbers including Sir Chris Bonington, Rebecca Stephens, Krish Thapa, Stephen Venables and Leo Houlding. Social and scientific observations are given by Dr. Jonathan Westway, Dr. Melanie Windridge and historian and mountaineer Ed Douglas. One hundred years after the loss of Mallory and Irvine, what have we learnt, what have we gained and what have we lost?

An international panel of mountaineers, historians and authors will hold a discussion on all aspects of the Everest enigma following the screening.

Panelists: Billi Bierling (Germany), Dr. Toolika Rani (India), John Porter (UK) and Mingma Sherpa (Nepal)

Moderator: Kunda Dixit, Nepali Times

'The Fight for Everest 1924' photo exhibit will be featured at the Nepal Tourism Board from 29 May to 2 June. Supported by Nepal Academy of Fine Arts.

Screening and Q&A on the topic 'Let's Talk Period' – in collaboration with GIZ and Oky Nepal featured by UNICEF, SIMAVI and NFCC Nepal.

30 May Thursday | 11:00 am | Nepal Tourism Board

The short film Let's Talk Period by filmmaker Rajin Maharjan tries to break the taboo around menstruation in Nepal with a focus on the supporting role of men/fathers and 'positive masculinity' in general. It features specifically the positive impact of inclusive digital solutions—like the Oky app, period tracker from girls for girls—to empower girls and young women.

The film is part of a campaign that started as a social media campaign #NepalsMenstrualMovement which evolved into a gender-transformative #LetsTalkPERIOD approach implemented in Nepal, Albania, and the Philippines. The campaign has roped in the support Keki Adhikari, Nepali actress, model, film producer and social activist as well as Dayahang Rai, Nepal's best-known actor, to make more and more boys and men involved of this discussion on menstrual health and hygiene and highlight challenges and solutions for girls and women in Nepal.

Panelists: Rubina Chhantel, NFCC Nepal; Mingma Sherpa, SIMAVI Nepal; Sami Pande, GIZ Nepal

Women behind the Camera: Film Screening and Panel Discussion

30 May Thursday | 2:30 pm | Rastriya Sabha Griha (City Hall)

The event will feature three short films by Nepali women directors, followed by a discussion where they will share insights, experiences, challenges and successes working in various roles behind the camera. The panel will cover topics such as importance of representation and diversity in filmmaking and overcoming gender barriers in the industry. The event is supported by the US Embassy in Kathmandu.

Panelists: Filmmakers, Akanchha Karki, Bidushi Giri, Dina Mufti and Sarita Sah
Moderator: Pooja Pant, Filmmaker and Activist

Championing Young Filmmakers | Beyond Borders

31 May Friday | 11:00 am | Nepal Tourism Board

The Beyond Borders (BB) project 2023/2024 is an international collaboration grant and platform to guide a dedicated group of young people in Nepal, Scotland and Egypt through the use of film as an artistic practice. During the project period, young people from the three countries discussed issues that concerned them—the environment, equality, well-being and identity. They worked together to make films through a process of online collaborative filmmaking, exploring these crucial topics and learning about the world beyond their borders. Their films will be screened at Kimff 2024 where participants from Nepal will join a panel discussion along with the Beyond Borders project lead and mentors.

Panelists: Ben Woodiwess, Beyond Borders Project Leader; Samikshya, Young Person; Ayush Young Person; Prasuna Dongol, Artist Mentor; Sonu Kumar Shah, MD, Monastic School.
Moderator: Sudin Bajracharya, Camera Sika Mentor

British Council Young Film Campaign (Make / Film / Learn)

31 May Friday | 1:00 pm | Nepal Tourism Board

British Council in collaboration with Kimff organised a #YoungFilmCampaign in March 2024 promoting films produced by young people. All 10 films produced will feature at Kimff 2024. Three have been awarded in the following categories: Gandarwa for Most Liked, The Stone That Grinds Through the Ages for Audience Impact and Jhigu Kipu the Jury Award. The screening will be followed by a panel discussion on the importance of integrating films into education and curriculum activities for enhanced learning.

Panelists: Shailendra Jha, Member (Education, Social Innovation, Technology), Kathmandu Metropolitan City; Shirjan Shrestha, Filmmaker; Tshering Sherpa, Educator, John Dewey School; Rossete Dala Rosa Tamang, Educator, Sambriiddhi School
Moderator: Mahesh Shrestha, Camera Sika Mentor

Mountains Matter: A Call from the Himalayas

31 May Friday | 12:30 pm | Rastriya Sabha Griha (City Hall)

The Storytellers event, supported by the US Embassy in Kathmandu, brings stories from Nepal's Himalayas through three prolific individuals and their tryst with mountains—from conquering peaks to making films about highland communities to managing and recycling waste off Everest. Their stories are also a call from the Himalayas to protect their majesty and the ecosystems and millions of lives that they sustain.

Storytellers: Dawa Yangzum Sherpa, Mountaineer, Min Bham, Filmmaker and Shilshila Acharya, Sustainability Practitioner

Cut.Katha Documentary Pitch Programme

1 June Saturday | 3:00 pm | Nepal Tourism Board

Cut.Katha is a pitch forum for short documentary filmmakers in South Asia. The forum is envisioned as a platform where filmmakers can hone their pitching skills through mentorship from expert trainers and professionals. It aims to help filmmakers and commissioners connect to form a more robust marketplace for documentaries in the region. The three winning pitches will be awarded the amount of Rs. 100,000 each.

In its second edition, Cut.Katha will follow a hybrid model that combines virtual sessions and a physical event. Early-career filmmakers will participate in pitch training (text as well pitch reel), group pitching and feedback sessions virtually. A selected group will then make their revised pitches to a live audience at Kimff 2024. 3 winners will receive a grant to produce their films.

Cut.Katha 2024 is organised by Kathaharu Production supported by British Council Nepal with training provided by One World Media in partnership with Kimff.

A Childless Village

82 min | Iran | 2022

Twenty years ago, in a remote village, an old filmmaker named Kazem made a film on the sterility of the women villagers, but in order to protect their dignity, the women stole the footage and burnt them. Now, after two decades, the villagers find out that the men are barren and there is nothing wrong with the women. With the help of his assistant, Kazem tries to record some interviews with the infertile men to unfold the truth.

Filmmaker

Born in Ardebil, Iran in 1978, Reza Jamali is a filmmaking graduate. After making a number of short films, presented and awarded at national and international film festivals, Jamali directed his debut feature film, Old Men Never Die (2019), which won him the Spirits of Asia Award at Tokyo International Film Festival and was screened at several international film festivals. A Childless Village is his second feature film.

Take My Breath

96 min | Tunisia | 2022

Stripped of the right to exist, shunned by love and rejected by society's norms and expectation, 23-year-old Shams must live in the shadows steeped in secrecy and an unimaginable pain. Fearing shame and ridicule, Shams's mother never registers him/her in the public records due to being born with both genitalia. Living in Shams's world means to abandon one's identity in order for them to survive in this harsh and closed-minded society. Courted by Habib, her true love, and the crook Abdelkader and his abused wife Naima, does not make her situation any easier. The fierce competition between the two men vying for Shams's love, is outed by the jealous crook Abdelkader in front of the entire village. Now, accused of being an instrument of the devil, rejected by Habib who feels betrayed, Shams is forced to leave the village to start a new life. But little did Shams know that this journey would be filled with more sorrow and rejection.

Filmmaker

Nada Mezni Hafaiedh, born in Saudi Arabia, was exposed to different cultures from an early age, including Saudi Arabia, USA, France and Canada, due to her diplomat parents. At the age of ten she was making films and video clips casting her friends and family as actors. She went to Montreal to study Business Administration, but soon changed her course to follow her passion for filmmaking. After graduating from the School of Cinema in Montreal, she opened her production company making films in Canada. She is known for tearing down taboo, and touching on fundamental issues that are related to freedom. On her return to her country of origin, Tunisia, in 2009, she made Hekayat Tounisia (Tunisians Stories). The film was screened at several festivals and received awards. In 2016 she released 'Upon the Shadow' (Au-delà de l'Ombre), a documentary that expresses how difficult it is to grow and protect your sexual freedom in a homophobic society where it is taboo or strongly disparaged.

The Tiger's Nest

94 min | Italy/ Nepal | 2022

Legend has it that a guru once flew through the Himalayas on the back of a female tiger. They landed in a cave almost 10,000 feet above sea level. The monastery built on that sheer cliff face became known as the Tiger's Nest. Little orphan boy, Balmani, has grown up with this strange story. One night, he snatches a tiger cub from evil poachers and goes on the run. He makes for the Tiger's Nest, where he believes they will be safe. A strong emotional bond develops between the boy and the cub as they travel from the lush grasslands of central Nepal, through the modern mayhem of Kathmandu, and on into the spectacular but lethal landscape of the high Himalayas, their journey made still more dangerous by the poachers who are determined to recapture the priceless cub.

Filmmaker

Brando Quilici has produced and directed over 100 specials for television networks around the world, including National Geographic and Discovery Channel. He has received awards at both the Jackson Hole in America and the Palme d'Or at the Antibes Film Festival. His best-known works include King Tut's Final Secrets, on the case of death of King Tutankhamun, for National Geographic and Nefertiti and the Lost Dynasty, on the search for the mummy of Nefertiti, also for National Geographic, Iceman for Discovery Channel, Iceman – Murder Mystery for NOVA PBS. In 2014, he produced and co-directed, together with Roger Spottiswood, The Journey Home, a theatrical release distributed in 30 countries.

Against the Tide

97 min | India | 2023

Two friends, both indigenous Koli fishermen in Mumbai, are driven to desperation by a dying sea. Their friendship begins to fracture as they take very different paths to provide for their struggling families.

Filmmaker

Sarvnik Kaur is a documentary filmmaker whose work takes a skeptical stance towards the 'grand narratives' of modernism and 'scientific certainties' and are made of moments that hide anxiety and conflict just beneath the surface of the normal and the mundane. Against the Tide premiered at Sundance Film Festival 2023 where she bagged the Special Jury Award for Verite Filmmaking. The film since then has received awards at Seattle International Film Festival, IceDocs, Visions-du-Reel, Sydney International Film Festival and Millenium Docs Against Gravity as well as The Warsaw Peace Award. Her first film, Soz - A Ballad of Maladies, was awarded the President of India's 64th National Award for best debut direction besides bagging the best film at IDSFFK 2017 and the Ram Bahadur Trophy for Best Film at the Film South Asia 2018. Her films have been part of PhD thesis of film scholars at New York University, Harvard University, Jawaharlal University, Tata Institute of Social Sciences etc. Her films have been supported by Catapult Film Fund, Sundance Documentary Fund, San Francisco Film Fund, and IDFA Bertha Fund.

Atirkul in the Land of Real Men

65 min | France/ Kyrgyzstan | 2023

On the vast plains of Kyrgyzstan, men continue to practise buzkashi, a team sport that has been popular in Central Asia for centuries. The aim of the game is to steal the trophy of a dead goat from the rival team of riders while remaining on horseback. We watch players gallop across the plains against a backdrop of snow-capped mountains and blue skies, jumping on each other like rugby players to grab the goat carcass and take it across the goal line. Into this tough masculine world enters Atirkül, a woman with an enterprising spirit and a sense of humour. Tired of her husband being away from home all the time, she decides to get involved in horse trading. The film portrays the everyday life of this headstrong horse enthusiast and business woman, whose ambition is to find local young men to form her own buzkashi team and in this way preserve the heritage of her native region and gradually reveal the possibilities of overcoming gender roles.

Filmmaker

Born in Kyrgyzstan, Jusupjan studied literature in Almaty. She worked as a journalist at Radio Free Europe's Kyrgyz Department for 20 years and was the artistic director of the One World Festival of Documentary Films on Human Rights, Kyrgyzstan. Her radio series 'Invisible Women of Osh' on sexual violence during the ethnic conflict in Kyrgyzstan received the AIB Diploma (UK). She is a founding member of Central Asian Music and Dance, Prague. Curiosity, genuine interest in people and direct ties to the culture in Central Asia allow Janyl to encounter amazing people and create strong connections. She studied film with Cinedoc Formation, Annecy and Les Ateliers Varan, Paris.

Into the Heart of the Mountain

97 min | Netherlands/ Nepal | 2023

At one level, Into the Heart of the Mountain follows clinicians of Nomads Clinic on its annual medical pilgrimage, which has been undertaken for four decades, to Humla in northwestern Nepal, as they follow trails and cross passes of more than 18.000 feet with spectacular mountains in the background. It documents their efforts to bring urgent medical care to the people of this secluded mountain region, home to the spiritual, pre-Buddhist, Bon culture. At another level the film portrays a people who so far have managed to preserve their social, cultural, economic and political integrity. But climate change together with their struggle for rights to their ancestral, nomadic lands and natural resources are undermining the very fabric of their existence. The film is also the story of Zen Buddhist spiritual leader Roshi Joan Halifax, who created Nomads Clinic and is the narrator of the documentary, as she grapples with the layers of deception and of gender-based violence as well as pervasive misogyny that have shaped her life.

Filmmaker

Annegré Bosman is a Dutch documentary filmmaker and photojournalist. She studied Journalism at the University of Applied Sciences, Utrecht and screenwriting in Amsterdam. Since then she has dedicated herself to bringing new perspectives and deeper public understanding to topics around human rights with a special focus on women's rights, gender equality, indigenous cultures, climate change and nature and wildlife conservation. Her works include Baby's World: The Life of the Newborn, Can Hunting be Conservation? the documentary series Out of Jail, At Work and the short documentary This Could Have Happened to Me, which was screened at IDFA, and Wildlife Savers, Unsung Heroes, which won the Conservation Award at Wildlife Film Festival Rotterdam, among others. Bosman is founder of the By Nature Films Foundation. Filmmaking has taken her to dramatic peaks of Nepal, the deserts of South Sudan and Indonesian rainforests.

My Radio My Life

68 min | India | 2023

Set in the 21st century, the film revisits the golden era of radio in India, when it was the dominant, popular and only source of entertainment, news and knowledge. Besides giving companionship to individuals, the radio brought families together and inspired people to make life choices. We meet individuals from diverse backgrounds. A man who broadcast the historic Apollo 11 moon landing as an announcer for Voice of America, a woman who found her calling in her formative years and later a life partner through radio, an octogenarian's unwavering determination to get his treasured valve radio set back to life, a person who preserves memories of people by restoring their radios and curating them in his museum and a woman from a conservative family who gets liberated by her passion for HAM radio and later goes on to win the prestigious Presidential Award, among others.

Filmmaker

Bidit Roy is a self-taught award-winning documentary filmmaker from Pune, India and the founder of Bluebird Moving Stories. His short documentary, The Bee Rescuer, has been selected for more than 45 film festivals and won 10 awards internationally. He's a fellow at Docedge Kolkata and was honoured at IFFI's first cohort of India's 75 Creative Minds in 2021.

Makarand Waikar, a passionate filmmaker, found his love for the art through his engagement with global film screenings, discussions and courses at prestigious institutions like Film and Television Institute of India and National Film Archive of India in Pune. His journey into the world of cinema began when he dedicated over two years to developing a concept and conducting extensive field research on the topic of radio.

Rio Rojo

70 min | Colombia | 2023

In the Serranía de la Macarena, in the north of the Colombian Amazon, lies 'Río Rojo', a mythical river that runs through the middle of the forest, also called 'the river of the seven colors'. Young Oscar, grandmother Doña María and the Indian Sabino live peacefully in the region, in communion with nature. But this area, once preserved by the conflict with FARC, is now victim of its beauty and threatened by the arrival of new visitors.

Filmmaker

Guillermo Quintero is a Colombian filmmaker who divides his time between Colombia and France. He studied biology and philosophy. He is a member of the El Perro Que Ladra Association, which promotes Colombian cinema. He was curator for four years of the Panorama de Cine Colombiano Film Festival in Paris. Quintero began his career as a documentary filmmaker in 2014 with the production of Homo botanicus, a personal project that takes an intimate look at the profession of botanist. It premiered at the Next Masters Competition of the Dok-Leipzig festival and won the Best International Documentary Award at the Torino Film Festival. In March 2023, Red River, his second feature-length documentary, premiered at the Cinéma du Reel Festival in Paris, France. He is currently developing his third feature documentary, Relict, a project supported by the CNC, SCAM in France and Proimágenes in Colombia.

The Great White Whale

104 min | Australia | 2023

Deep in the wild Southern Ocean, half way between Australia and Africa, a snowy volcano nine thousand feet high rears up from the sea like a Great White Whale. Five times it tried to kill the first team that tried to climb it. But back they sailed, through the worst seas in the world, to try again, this time with the legendary Bill Tilman as skipper.

This is the gripping tale of both expeditions, told by those that were there, one of whom sings the story too, as befits the epic saga that it was. The Great White Whale won the Grand Prize and Best Director Award at Mendi International Mountain Film Festival 2023, Bilbao, Spain.

Filmmaker

Michael Dillon has been making adventure documentaries for over 50 years. He was Sir Edmund Hillary's filmmaker for the last 25 years of Hillary's active life, culminating in the cinema feature Hillary Ocean to Sky. He had made three Everest documentaries including Everest Sea to Summit which won eight grand prizes in festivals worldwide. In 2022 He was awarded the Grand Prize for Lifetime Achievement by the International Federation of Mountain Film Festivals.

(Todesfalle Haute Route- Rekonstruktion eines Dramas) Death Trap Haute Route – Reconstruction of a Tragedy

90 min | Switzerland/ Austria/ France/ Italy | 2023

Seven people froze to death from exhaustion in snow and ice, only 550 meters from the hut that would have saved them. The ski touring drama on the Haute Route of April 29, 2018, leaves many questions unanswered. The drama under the Pigne d'Arolla, on the legendary Haute Route, the ski tour between Chamonix and Zermatt, is the biggest accident of its kind in the Swiss Alps. Based on the survivors' testimonies, documents and photos, re-enacted scenes, as well as GPS data and excerpts from the investigation report of the public prosecutor's office in Sion, the film reconstructs the dramatic events of this tour and tries to find answers. Death Trap Haute Route – Reconstruction of a Tragedy also shows that despite the supposed safety of modern tools and equipment, helicopter rescue and the proximity to civilisation, nature is stronger than man. It casts light on what is happening in the Alps, where mountain tourism is very much on the increase.

Filmmaker

Frank Senn, born in 1963, is an award-winning documentary film producer working for the documentary department of Swiss National Television. He specialises in outdoor and climbing films all over the world. In 1995, he completed Death on the Dhaulagiri, his first documentary film about a fatal mountain-climbing expedition in the Himalayas. This was followed by several other films. Senn co-produced Eiger—Live in 1999 which followed four mountaineers live on their seventeen-hour ascent to the Eiger summit and received many awards. In 2002, he and Thomas Ulrich made the documentary Eiger North Face – On the Tracks of the First Climbers which won several awards including at festivals like BANFF and Graz. He also produced, together with Hari Thapa from Nepal, after five years of preparation, the film Sherpas – The True Heroes of Mount Everest which won awards at festivals all over the world including at KIMFF. In 2016 and 2017 he covered in two films the tragedy of the earthquake in Nepal with the titles In the Shadows of Everest.

Yamnuska: The Ragged Edge

59 min | Canada | 2023

The film follows two modern day adventurers as they embark on a rock climbing journey through time, celebrating the rich history and folklore of one of Canada's most iconic climbing cliffs and paying homage to the colourful characters who have etched their names into its vertical walls since the 1950s.

Filmmaker

John Price, a fledgling filmmaker, ventures into the world of cinema driven by an unwavering passion for capturing the unfiltered beauty of action mountain sports. His career has been rooted in a background of still photography, especially in the realms of ice, rock and alpine climbing. Motivated by a heartfelt desire to share Yamnuska's rich history, Price embarked on this debut cinematic journey, fueled by a genuine hope of capturing the essence of this iconic proving ground. He joined forces with Sherpas Cinema in his debut film project to preserve Yamnuska's legacy and inspire audiences and to think about the importance of looking back to discover what can be learned.

Split Ends

14 min | Iran | 2022

A bald girl and a young boy with long hair whose car has been confiscated due to lack of proper hijab are trying to solve their problem with the Tehran Morality Police without having to pay a fine. Police surveillance cameras have mistaken the boy for a woman because of his long hair, and the young girl, despite her shaved head, has to pay the fine simply because she's a woman and that the hijab law only applies to females. The two of them are hence resisting the police. Being humiliated by a police officer, they decide to punish the officer in their own way.

Filmmaker

Alireza Kazemipour, is a multi-awarded Iranian-Canadian screenwriter, director and producer. He got his Master's degree in Film Directing from the Faculty of Art at the University of Tehran in 2010 and directed his first short film Slowness. He made his second film The Blue Bed in 2020 which was screened at more than 60 film festivals around the world including the Short Shorts Film Festival & Asia 2020, Elche Independent Film Festival 2020 and Palencia International Film Festival, and received 15 awards and 14 nominations, including the Best Director Award at the Vancouver Short Film Festival. He recently directed a documentary feature film Margin vs. Center (2021). Social justice, women's rights, and immigrant issues are his concerns.

The Whispers of a Qareen

15 min | India | 2024

On a lonely night, 12-year-old Jahaan is approached by something strangely familiar in her Himalayan village. As the visits become more frequent, the new companion gradually reveals its identity. Running games in the wild playgrounds and the trivial gossip in the shadow of the holy tree suddenly feel distant as the days start blurring. Is the world around Jahaan disappearing?

Filmmaker

Maaria Sayed began by working as a writer for networks such as Discovery Channel and National Geographic. Her shorts have been screened at various film festivals including Raindance, Izmir Kisa, BFI Flare, Busan and Mo & Friehe Junges Kurz. She was a delegate for the Asia Peace Film Festival in Pakistan. A special programme dedicated to her short films was part of Ca Foscari Short Film Festival, 2019 in Venice. Her work deals with transformation and the sexual and spiritual liberation of women from her background. Sayed is an alumna of Asian Film Academy 2016, Fajr Talent Campus 2017, Bucheon Fantastic Film School 2019 and Busan Asian Film School 2021. Her work has been supported by Busan Film Commission, Cineteca di Bologna, Sharjah Art Foundation among others.

कुलैँ तौल कुछ नि जमदु (Nothing Grows Under The Pine Trees)

32 min | India | 2023

Marriage begins to spool the fates of two sisters as their family begins to arrange for one. Lost in her kaleidoscopic imagination, the younger sister comes to believe that she is being married. On the other hand, the elder sister, the one being married, knows what this marriage is— a remedy for crossing the lines drawn by society and concocted by the fear of social boycott. From the hills of Uttarakhand comes this story of two sisters' destiny tied to their society, a sliver of the ensuing saga of a people torn by prejudice disguised as tradition.

Filmmaker

Sachin Rana is a filmmaker, poet and multimedia artist hailing from Chamoli, Uttarakhand. He currently operates from Dehradun and Delhi. After completing his schooling he decided to become a filmmaker making his debut with a student project Dear Addiction which managed to grab some local attention. Since then he has constantly been involved in producing photo stories, video installations, poetry and experimental short films. He assisted in another Garhwali short film, The Last Rhododendron, which won the Gender Sensitivity Award at Dharamshala International Film Festival and travelled worldwide. Nothing Grows Under The Pine Trees is his professional directorial debut.

A Long Way to Nowhere

29 min | United States | 2023

Co-presented by:

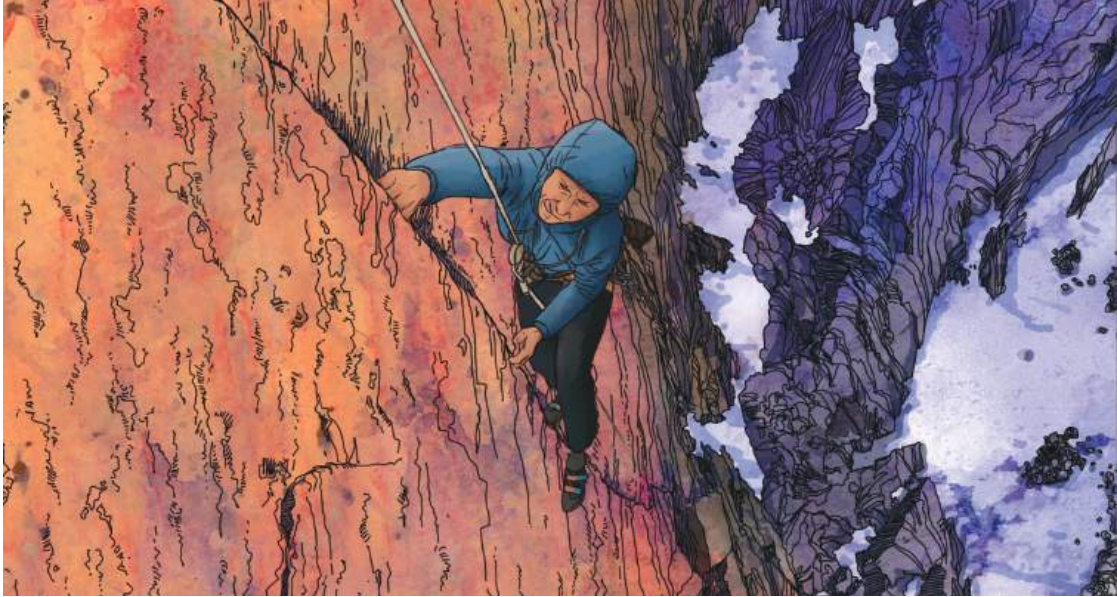

A crew of young Americans endure a week-long traverse of Oregon's rugged and fire-shapen Kalmiopsis Wilderness in an effort to revitalise a historic hiking trail.

Filmmaker

Vincent DiFrancesco loved the outdoors since early childhood and by the time he was in college was running ultramarathons. Preferring instead the running escapades in remote wooded areas, he soon came to realise the importance of developing and maintaining trails in the wilderness. He believes that opening trails in the wilderness and taking care of them will help in the protection of public lands, an invaluable effort in the time of climate change. He has been part of groups in their efforts to ensure such routes in Oregon are open to backpackers to help people remain connected to the land.

Body of a Line

11 min | United States | 2023

In this animated documentary, Madaleine Sorkin undertakes an intimate and creative journey to climb the most difficult rock climb above 13,500 feet in the world: the Dunn-Westbay Direct (5.14 a/b) on Longs Peak (Neniisoteyou'u) in Colorado. Captured entirely in real life, this film kaleidoscopes 7229 frames of original artwork, music and poetry and it's a climbing film unlike anything.

Filmmaker

Henna Taylor is a self-taught documentary filmmaker. She began making short videos of her time living with four rural midwives in Cambodia. Over the next decade, her nonlinear relationship with filmmaking grew exponentially. She has written, directed, filmed, edited, and produced six award-winning short documentary films, including one which was awarded Best Mountain Short Film at BANFF, Canada. Her first feature length documentary, An Accidental Life, debuted in 2022. Taylor's films capture the absurd, imperfect, painful, hilarious, and terribly vulnerable states of the human experience and, at their best moments, achieve the emotional catharsis central to the tradition of storytelling and theatre.

16 min | United States | 2024

Co-presented by:

While navigating a myriad number of life challenges from being her mom's caretaker and working several jobs to facing housing insecurity, Anjelica Avella turned to the outdoors in her mid-20s to improve her mental health. Despite feeling the benefits of time spent outside for her well-being, the absence of other plus-size women of colour on the trail was noticeable. In an effort to form a community, Anjelica began leading weekend hikes and trips for other women who too were seeking others with shared lived experiences. Forward chronicles Anjelica's perspective in a space that has historically excluded individuals like her and shares a profound connection between women who once felt sidelined and are now a catalyst for change.

Filmmaker

Palmer Morse is a multi-disciplinary award-winning filmmaker based in Oakland, California and focuses on using the devices at hand in the visual and media culture that can drive society to make change. As a director, producer, DP and editor, his work has been shown on National Geographic, PBS, New York Times, Outside magazine and in film festivals around the world garnering awards and praise. Interested in stories of humans, the planet and interactions of the two, Morse often works with organisations, non-profits and brands in honing in on their mission in the visual format. He also directs music videos. He is co-founder of Spruce Tone, a collective of filmmakers.

Eternal Flame

26 min | Pakistan/ France | 2023

Jumping from the top of Nameless Tower in Pakistan after having climbed the Eternal Flame route is to combine the ascent of one of the most beautiful climbing routes in the world with the opening of one of the most beautiful jumps in BASE jumping imaginable. Following in the footsteps of the pioneers of 1990, Éric Jamet and Antoine Pecher have achieved this feat. An adventure shared amongst friends, which is beautiful, powerful and breathtaking!

Filmmaker

Nicolas Bossard is a Swiss adventurer and director-cameraman. In love with Nepal for twenty years, he decided in 2013 to cross the chain of Himalayas on foot for more than 3500 km and has made a 52-minute film of this adventure. He has been hired for numerous documentaries in the Afghan mountains, Khirgize and Tibet and led numerous expeditions. Passionate about snowboarding, paragliding, wingsuit and all flying machines, he climbs numerous high altitude peaks, some combining paragliding descents. He hopes, one day, to bring the wingsuit to a very high altitude for a jump project in Nepal at more than 7000m.

Rope

30 min | Japan/ Pakistan | 2023

Kazuya Hiraide, three times Piolets d'Or winner by conquering unclimbed routes of Kamet, Shispare and Rakaposhi, discovered the ideal climbing route on the north face of Tirich Mir (7708m) 20 years ago. Since then, he has had eyes on Tirich Mir until the right time came. Though some teams have climbed the mountain since its first ascent by a Norwegian expedition in 1950, none of them challenged the north face because it's very difficult even to get to the base of it. In late 2022, Hiraide asked the younger and less experienced Kenro Nakajima, who has been his climbing partner since 2016, to climb the route with him. Nakajima is uncertain whether he is good enough to be a 'real' partner of Hiraide for the climb. The two climbers leave base camp to climb Tirich Mir without oxygen or big support. They have absolutely no idea what kind of danger they face as there are no photos or information of the route. After many struggles of six days and nights, the two reach the summit of Tirich Mir. Nakajima feels his growth physically and technically. Tears fall from his eyes.

Filmmaker

With 15 years' experience, documentary filmmaker Moe Wada always focuses on the inside of people and has insights into them when she stands behind the camera. She has created over 30 documentary films mostly for commercial TV station and NHK, the public TV in Japan. In 2020 Wada started filming her first feature film being about the LGBTQ community in Japan and was well received by the audience at Tokyo Documentary film festival. being is still played at movie theatres in Japan. She has made three documentary films about alpine climber Hiraide Kazuya.

That's Home

20 min | Austria | 2023

A inspiring film about Tobias Holzknacht, a young alpinist from the Ötztal region, who has been connected to the mountains since childhood. Even at the age of five, he stood on a 3000-metre peak and discovered the world of sport and competitive climbing during his school years before returning to classic alpinism. Tobias is deeply passionate about mountaineering, a passion that was further fueled by his friendship with Hansjörg Auer. The film also captures Tobias in his responsible role within the avalanche commission and showcases moments where he, along with Arianna Tricomi and Marc Holzknacht, venture into steep couloirs on skis. The film vividly portrays the beauty and allure of the mountains, inspiring viewers to pursue their own passions and experience nature.

Filmmaker

Johannes Hoffmann, born and raised in Innsbruck, Austria discovered his passion for filmmaking through his career as a professional freeride skier. After studying Geography, he seamlessly transitioned into capturing the essence of his mountain adventures on film. With a keen eye for storytelling and a love for outdoor sports, Hoffmann began producing and directing ski films, showcasing the thrill and beauty of freeride skiing, as well as mountaineering and other alpine pursuits. In his pursuit of cinematic excellence, he embarked on numerous ski expeditions to remote and challenging locations, honing his skills behind the camera. In 2013, he established Whiteroom Productions, focusing on outdoor sports filmmaking and documentary work.

Mountain Man

22 min | Bhutan | 2022

In Bhutan, 11-year-old Yangchen's father is the country's glacier specialist, and thus the only person authorised to climb the mountains which are considered sacred. He spends months away from home measuring rapidly melting glaciers. While hiking through snow to the farthest reaches of the Bhutanese Himalayas, he faithfully shoots videos for his daughter with his phone. Meanwhile, Yangchen prays that her father won't disturb the snow lion, the mythical embodiment of the glacier—the Bhutanese believe that this could provoke disaster. But in reality, the biggest threat to the snow lion's survival is not Yangchen's father, but climate change.

Filmmaker

Arun Bhattarai's most recent feature documentary, Agent of Happiness, premiered in the world cinema documentary competition at Sundance Film Festival 2024. His short film, Mountain Man, won the grand jury prize for short films at the Oscar qualifying Doc NYC 2023. His first feature-length documentary, The Next Guardian, premiered at IDFA 2017. Since then, it has been screened at festivals, had theatrical releases and broadcast around the world. His films have been supported by The Sundance Film Institute, Catapult Film Fund and IDFA Bertha Fund, among others. Before becoming an independent filmmaker, he worked as a TV director at the Bhutan Broadcasting Service (BBS) for more than five years.

친화득 B Chouinard B

8 min | South Korea | 2019

A man leaves home early in the morning to begin climbing. He leaves his wife's nagging and city protesters behind, arrives at the mountain and begins to climb. While he is climbing, all the worries troubling him disappear like the rushing river. When he finally reaches the summit of Insubong, there is a smile even on his gruff partner's face. He imagines meeting with Yvon Chouinard, who invented the Chouinard B, in his happiness at the summit, and there is a moment when all of this comes together beautifully. The animation makes us think about climbing a mountain, and like a watercolour painting, calls out in candour, 'Come, let's climb the mountain.' The narration by actor Yoo Ji-tae brings the audience closer to the main character of the film.

Filmmaker

Choi graduated from the Korean Academy of Film Arts and is a dean of the Department of Animation at Mokwon University. He has produced and directed short animations such as Perfect Family, Climbing and The Tree's Home. He has been making animation films with various materials and different methods, such as stop-motion and filming in 35mm.

여름에 내린 눈 (The House of Rising Sun)

17 min | South Korea | 2019

Eunju must give up ballet because of the situation at home. Her parents are always fighting with other relatives. Everything begins to go wrong, and it seems that the cause is her dead grandfather's gravesite. Eunju really wants to continue her ballet lessons, so she decides to take a trip with her younger cousins to bring her grandfather to a better gravesite. The film is a cheeky reminder that family is not just a bunch of meddlers, but our partners to rely on, and that we must not be tied down by traditions. As an active actor herself, the director brings out solid acting by children in this film that makes us think about our life. Those who pay close attention to the tarot cards appearing at the beginning of the film will be able to make a prediction of how the film will end.

Filmmaker

Lee was born in Jeonju City, Korea. She is working as an actress and as a film director. The films she has acted in include: The King (2016), Illang: The Wolf Brigade (2018), The Odd Family: Zombie on Sale, Broker (2022), The Boys (2023), 12.12: The Day (2023).

Dancing in Fire: Khalikhane Fire-Walking and Ritual Healing in the Kathmandu Valley of Nepal

47 min | Nepal | 2023

This film documents, for the first time, spirit and deity possession seances and the sacred Khalikhane fire-walking ceremony in a Hindu village in Kathmandu Valley. It is an audio-visual sensory and multi-storied exploration of experiences and responses to traumatic loss and suffering, and the transformative effects of communal ceremony and ritual healing. Produced over six weeks of continuous filming it captures the immersive rituals, music and dance of the Khalikhane ceremony and the embodied possession testimonies of ancestral spirits who describe their unnatural, often violent, deaths that have left them trapped as wandering spirits. Seeking recognition and release from their earthly existence, they cause family members illness and misfortune. A ritual specialist calls these spirits to possess family members, describe the events of their death and enter the fire-walking ceremony to be released to the divine ancestral realm.

Filmmaker

Ramesh Khadka focuses on ethnographic filmmaking and his films have been shown at numerous international films and also won awards. His films include Delhi Dreams, 68 Members, Lives of Jumla, which won an award at kimff, Kadamandu, awarded Best Documentary Award at kimff, Chhau (Menstruation Seclusion), awarded First Prize at ETNO International Film Festival, Croatia and runner-up prize at Moscow International Film Festival, Living with Culture, Lamas in Dilemma, Mother of 25, Lives of Jawang and The Last Monarch - Rise and Fall of the Shah Dynasty, which was theatrically released in Nepal.

Dhye Dreams

26 min | Nepal | 2023

In the remote Tibetan villages of Upper Mustang, Nepal, climate change has desiccated the landscape. The water table has dropped drastically, forcing the abandonment of the ancient village of Dhye. Dhye Dreams intimately explores the lives of three women—Sonam Sangmo, Kunchok Dolkar and Lhakpa Choezon—fighting against their fate. Most of the villagers have moved down to a river-fed valley and the new frontier town of Chambaleh, where they hope to grow a commercial apple crop. But Kunchok and Lhakpa are staying with their beloved livestock and fields, up in the mountains. Their stories highlight the resilience and struggle for the survival of isolated Himalayan villages battling against dramatic climate change.

Filmmaker

Shanta Nepali is a director, cinematographer, mountaineer and line producer based in Kathmandu, Nepal, and has been working in filmmaking since 2006. She has directed and produced TV shows, fiction and documentaries with narratives focusing on social issues, marginalised communities and outdoor and adventure stories. Her work has been screened on national and international TV networks, such as Nat Geo, Discovery Channel, Travel Channel and Animal Planet. Born into a life of discrimination, stigma and exclusion, Nepali believes in amplifying marginalised voices through her films. She is a founder and director of Shanta Nepali Productions, a leading film production company in Nepal. She also created Nepali Female Filmmakers, a supportive community for female filmmakers, and the Shanta Nepali Foundation, committed to empowering marginalised communities, especially women, through storytelling and creative practices.

Yatra

22 min | Nepal | 2022

Yatra takes viewers on a transformative journey alongside Rekha and Jyoti as they navigate the intricate paths of self-discovery, identity and gender transition exploring their unique experiences, struggles and triumphs within Nepal's cultural and societal context. Rekha and Jyoti embark on separate yet parallel quests to embrace their true selves and live as women. While their shared desire to find their purpose and authentic identities unites them, their individual journeys unfold with distinct challenges and triumphs. Their stories are a testament to the resilience of the human spirit and the power of self-acceptance and self-empowerment. As the documentary delves into their emotional and physical transformations, it sheds light on the societal norms, prejudices and cultural expectations that shape their journeys challenging traditional narratives and inviting viewers to question their own perceptions of gender and identity while fostering empathy and understanding.

Filmmaker

Sahayog Raj Adhikari is a Nepal-based filmmaker with a diverse background in acting, casting and producing. He has worked as an actor/casting director in various TV films including Crime Patrol Nepal, fiction films, and theatre productions. Dubidha (Dilemma)

20 min | Nepal | 2022

Dubidha (Dilemma) is the story of a day in the life of Mahesh, 36, and Parvati, 27, who cannot conceive a baby even after 12 years of marriage. They are compelled to flee their village in western Nepal due to the constant taunts of villagers and resettle in a squatter colony for the landless in Kathmandu. Mahesh, a vegetable vendor, is reluctant to show a laboratory report to the doctor for fear that it might ruin their otherwise happy married life. Parvati, who looks after the baby of a woman seven years younger than her, begins to fear the worst—the possibility of Mahesh remarrying due to her inability to bear a child. Mahesh musters up courage and finally goes to the doctor with the report that reveals Parvati cannot bear a child. Mahesh is drowned in a dilemma. What should he do? How will he break the news to Parvati?

No Monastery No Village

27 min | Nepal | 2024

Co-presented by:

High in the Himalaya lies Halzi, a village nestled in the shadow of a glacial lake. It is home to the ancient Halzi Rinchenling Monastery, a cornerstone of the Limi community's cultural heritage for centuries, Halzi faces a growing threat: Glacial Lake Outburst Floods (GLOFs). The documentary explores the plight of the villagers caught between their deep devotion to their heritage and the very real danger of impending floods. Sonam Dhondup, a monk at the monastery, wrestles with the fear of losing the sacred building to the next GLOF. Pema Dolma, a yak herder who lost her herd in a previous avalanche, remains resolute in her devotion to the monastery, despite the hardships. Through their contrasting viewpoints, the No Monastery No Village sheds light on the complex realities the Limi community faces. It is a poignant exploration of faith, resilience and the fight to preserve a way of life in the face of climate change.

Filmmaker

Tashi Lhazom is a prominent youth climate advocate working at the intersection of climate action, gender equality, indigenous rights and political literacy. She has spoken at grassroots, national and global platforms, and is a co-founder of two civil society initiatives. With the many hats that Tashi wears, she is also a filmmaker harnessing the power of storytelling to promote generational change in delivering climate justice. No Monastery, No Village is her directorial debut and is of her homeland, the Limi valley. She holds an undergraduate degree from Hindu College, University of Delhi.

गणेशा - एलिफास मैक्सिमस (Ganesha - Elephas Maximus)

28 min | Nepal | 2024

The eastern part of Nepal is home to one of the world's most amazing creatures: the Asian elephant. These elephants have inhabited the region since the dawn of time. Yet, in recent times, they have been in conflict with another of nature's cherished inhabitants: humans. The reason for this conflict? Food and land. The conflict has brought suffering to both sides, with casualties rising every day. Yet it seems that this is just the beginning. Amid the turmoil, one figure stands out as a guiding force: Shankar Chettri Luitel, who has been working for the past twenty-five years to mitigate the conflict. He tirelessly advocates for the harmonious coexistence of both species.

Ganesha - Elephas Maximus offers glimpses of the struggle and moments of happiness while embodying the hope that, one day, humans and elephants will coexist peacefully.

Filmmaker

Sapkota is an aspiring filmmaker and recent media graduate from Kathmandu University School of Arts. Fascinated by the beauty of stories, he has been exploring different means of storytelling.

About kimff Foundation

The kimff foundation is a private, not-for-profit sharing company dedicated to cultivating an informed, dynamic and resilient Nepali society through the power of stories. We do this by exhibiting, funding and producing works in film, media arts and digital media. As a vehicle for educational, humanitarian, and cultural exchange, we present authentic stories about the rich diversity of Nepal to a wide audience through these mediums.

With the annual Kathmandu International Mountain Film Festival (kimff) at its core and an extensive collection of narrative and non-fiction films, the foundation serves as a documentation and resource centre for the evolution of audio visual culture, practice and popular trends in Nepal.

Over the years we have built a community of avid film enthusiasts, staunch supporters, engaged audiences and committed volunteers. We invite you to join us as we strive to build a Foundation that fosters ideas and innovation, builds capacity and becomes a valuable resource and creative space. At the same time, we are committed to cementing Kathmandu's reputation as the cosmopolitan and cultural heart of the Himalayan region and to establish it as a globally recognized film, arts, education, and cultural centre.

Discover the wonders that await

For a filmmaker in Nepal, the local communities can serve as a set. With picturesque landscape and the smiling faces of the locals, you could almost capture a beautiful image by pointing the camera to any direction. This local involvement in the filmmaking process inadvertently achieved one of the goals of community tourism, which is to open up new professional pathways for the locals.
